MAJOR RELEASE

Earnings of Men and Women

1990

Women who worked full-time throughout 1990 averaged $24,923 in earnings, up 3.0% from 1989 after adjusting for inflation. Average earnings of men showed virtually no change at $36,863. Compared with 10 years ago, the earnings of women increased 5% versus no change for men. Over the previous 20 years, women saw an increase of 27% versus 12% for men.

As a result of differential changes in earnings, the woman to man earnings ratio has been trending upwards. For example, in 1990 the ratio was 67.6%, up from 65.8% in 1989. Between 1986 and 1989, the earnings ratio showed little movement. However, it did increase between 1980 and 1984, from 64.2% to 65.6%. In 1967, the first year of publication of comparative data, it was 58.4%.

After six consecutive years of increase, the total number of persons with any earnings was virtually unchanged for men and women between 1989 and 1990.

Earnings of Men and Women, 1990 is the latest report showing annual earnings by sex. The data are drawn from the Survey of Consumer Finances conducted in April 1991. This report compares 1990 earnings of men and women by such characteristics as age, education, occupation, and marital status.

Highlights

- The female to male earnings ratio ranged from 87.6% in the 15-24 age group to 61.9% in the 45-54 age group.

Note to Users

Highlights from the report are based on data for full-year, full-time workers. There is no simple explanation for differences in earnings by sex for full-year, full-time workers. Other important variables such as years of labour market experience, annual hours worked and educational attainment would have to be considered simultaneously to isolate the effect of gender alone.

- For single (never married) earners, the ratio was 89.8% compared with 62.6% for married earners and 74.8% for other categories.
- Earners with grade eight education or less had a female/male earnings ratio of 62.4% versus 72.8% for those with university degrees.

Earnings of Men and Women, 1990 (13-217, $25) is now available. See "How to Order Publications".

For more information concerning these data or the availability of special request tabulations, contact the Income and Housing Surveys Section (613-951-9775), Household Surveys Division.

A microdata tape containing 1990 earnings and income data for individuals, along with socio-demographic characteristics, will be available soon. This tape has been carefully reviewed to ensure that it does not contain information that would allow identification of specific households, families or individuals. This tape can be ordered by contacting the Household Surveys Division. ■

Don't start your week without it

Get a jump on your work week by making sure you have the most current economic and social information in Canada. Travelling by first class mail or courier, Statistics Canada's digest, Infomat, arrives at the beginning of each week to help you monitor key economic indicators and keep up with the most current data releases from Canada's national statistical agency.

In eight fact-filled pages, Infomat highlights the findings of Statistics Canada surveys and brings them to your desk each week, often long before detailed reports are published. Throughout the year you'll get the first results of over 100 ongoing surveys and many special surveys—from manufacturing shipments to the health of Canadians or post graduate employment to part-time workers.

Each week, Infomat presents you with,

- concise summaries of fresh facts from over 100 ongoing surveys
- charts and graphs that let you instantly scan the trends
- Overview - an outline of the subjects covered in each issue that you can scan in 30 seconds
- guidance on how to obtain special reports to assist you in your more detailed research.
- Current Trends and Latest Monthly Statistics sections that bring you up to date on the Consumer Price Index, Gross Domestic Product and 21 other key monthly series

Managers, analysts and researchers who are responsible for keeping up to date on changes in Canada's economic and social climate can count on Infomat — as a quick overview of the latest trends and as a weekly reminder of key indicators and data releases. Many subscribers use Infomat's highlights to add authority to their industry analyses, investment plans or corporate reports.

To order Infomat (11-002E), 50 issues annually for $125 in Canada, US$150 in the U.S. and US$175 in other countries, write to Publications Sales and Service, Statistics Canada, Ottawa, Canada, K1A 0T6. For faster service, use your VISA or MasterCard and call toll-free in Canada, 1-800-267-6677.
