MAJOR RELEASE

Crude Petroleum and Natural Gas Industry: Volume and Value of Marketable Production

1992 and 1993

Due primarily to strong export demand, natural gas production rose 10.8% and crude oil production increased 4.3% in 1993.

Crude oil production during 1993 amounted to 97 249 thousand cubic metres, a 4.3% increase from 1992. This followed a 3.8% gain in 1992 after a 0.4% decline in 1991.

The value of crude oil production is estimated at $11,155 million for 1993, up 2.3% from 1992.

Natural gas production during 1993 amounted to 129 245 million cubic metres, 10.8% higher than in 1992. Production rose by an identical 10.8% in 1992 and by 6.5% in 1991.

The value of natural gas production is estimated at $7,249 million for 1993, a sharp 26.8% rise from 1992. The advance was due to both volume and price increases.

Production of natural gas by-products (excluding elemental sulphur) reached 28 463 thousand cubic metres, a 6.5% increase from 1992. Value of production is estimated at $2,793 million, up 14.7% from 1992.

For further information, contact Gary Smalldridge (613-951-3567), Industry Division.

DATA AVAILABILITY ANNOUNCEMENTS

Transition Homes Survey

1992/93

On March 31, 1993, there were 371 residential facilities providing services for abused women: 288 transition houses, 22 second-stage housing, 11 family resource centres, 13 safe-home networks, 4 satellites and 15 emergency shelters.

According to preliminary analysis of data from 332 (89%) of these facilities, there were 86,499 admissions (women and dependent children) during the year.

A one-day snapshot for March 31, 1993 indicates that 80% of the 1,870 women who were resident in the facilities on that date were admitted in order to escape abusive situations. Three-quarters of these women were admitted with children. The total number of children resident on that day was 1,748.

Over one-half of these women residents were escaping physical abuse, while almost 60% indicated psychological abuse. In 70% of the abusive situations, the spouse/partner was cited as the abuser. In more than one-quarter of the cases, medical attention was required. Thirty percent of these women reported the most recent incident of abuse to the police; in one-half of these reported cases, charges were laid.

Of the women in residence due to abusive situations, 42% were between the ages of 25 and 34. One-third of the women initiated the contact with the facility themselves, while 27% were referred through social services and other agencies.

Data for the 1992/93 Transition Home Survey are now available. For more information, contact the Information Requests Unit (613-951-1746, fax: 613-951-0792), Canadian Centre for Health Information. ■

Correctional Services

1992-93

The data released in this Juristat Service Bulletin are highlights of key correctional indicators taken from Statistical Report on Adult Correctional Services in Canada, 1992-93, which was published in October 1993. That report is a series of statistical tables accompanied by some analysis and charts on selected custodial, community supervision, and personnel and financial expenditure elements.

Available on CANSIM: tables 00180701 and 00180703 to 00180706.

The Vol. 14, No. 1 issue of Juristat Service Bulletin: Correctional Services in Canada, Highlights for 1992-93 (85-002, $3.60/$65) is now available. See "How to Order Publications".
