MAJOR RELEASE

Declining female labour force participation

In 1991, for the first time in nearly four decades, the participation rate of women in the labour force reversed its previous course and began to decline. This drop, however small or brief it may prove to be, breaks one of the longest and most important trends in the Canadian labour market.

These decades saw the overall female participation rate peak at 58.4% by 1990. In 1991, it declined to 58.2% and by 1993, it had fallen further to 57.5%.

Starting just before the recent recession, the decline was most pronounced and persistent for 15 to 24 year-olds. In the course of the recession there was also a very temporary and modest decline for 25 to 44 year-olds.

However, for the balance (those 45 and over) increases continued throughout this period.

"Declining female labour force participation", featured in the Summer 1994 issue of Perspectives on Labour and Income (75-001E, $14/$56), is now available. The article looks at the recent decline in the labour force participation rates of women by age. See "How to Order Publications".

DATA AVAILABILITY ANNOUNCEMENTS

Government expenditures on culture 1992-93

In 1992-93, the federal government spent $2.9 billion on culture, almost unchanged since 1989-90. Over this period, spending on broadcasting showed an increase of nearly 6% to $1.5 billion. Literary arts experienced the largest decline in federal spending (-30%), largely because of the reductions in postal subsidy for books, periodicals and newspapers. Federal support for the performing arts also dropped 9% from 1989-90 to $111 million in 1992-93.

Provincial and territorial spending on culture, at about $2 billion, was up 2% from the previous year. Multiculturalism showed a significant increase of 27% to $45.3 million in provincial and territorial spending. Provincial and territorial governments spent 8% more on heritage activities than in the previous year, to a total of $471.5 million in 1992-93. Spending on broadcasting, however, dropped 5% to $208.7 million.

Municipal governments spent about $1.4 billion on culture, an increase of 8% from the previous year. Municipal funding for the performing arts almost doubled to $65.9 million in 1992.

Data from the 1992-93 annual Surveys of federal, provincial/territorial, and municipal governments expenditures on culture are now available. Detailed information on expenditures by level of government, type of expenditure, function and province can be obtained, on a cost recovery basis.

For further information on this release, contact N. Verma (613-951-6863), Education, Culture and Tourism Division.

Motion picture theatres and film distribution surveys

1992-93

Today, fewer theatres are catering to a slightly larger number of Canadian movie goers. From 1991-92 to 1992-93, the number of regular theatres dropped 3.5% while paid admissions rose 3.5%. In contrast, paid admissions to drive-ins fell 16.0% and the number of drive-ins dropped 14.6%.

Home entertainment continues to be the revenue generating sector for the distribution of film, video and audio-visual products. It accounts for 68% of the total distribution revenue. Distribution of home video products is the growing market of the home entertainment sector. In 1992-93, this market made up 30% of the total revenue from the home entertainment sector, while in 1991-92 it accounted for 20% of the total revenue. At the same time, market share of foreign controlled firms distributing to the home entertainment sector fell from 47.6% in 1991-92 to 38.9% in 1992-93.

Preliminary data from the 1992-93 annual motion picture theatres survey and the film, video and audiovisual distribution and videocassette wholesaling survey are now available on a cost recovery basis.

The 1992-93 issue of Culture statistics: film and video publication (87-204, $24) will be available in the fall.

Air carrier operations in Canada

April-June 1993

During the second quarter of 1993, the average air fare paid by scheduled passengers on all domestic city-pairs increased 13% from the second quarter of 1992, while the proportion of domestic discount passengers decreased 6 percentage points.

The domestic scheduled market, viewed in terms of passenger-kilometres flown, dropped 12% in the second quarter of 1993 from the second quarter of 1992. This market has experienced negative growth in 14 of 16 quarters since the second quarter of 1989. As a result of the continuing decreases, the actual passenger-kilometre levels reported have become extremely low. For example, the 1993 second quarter level of 4.8 billion was well below the peak for this quarter which was above six billion in 1989 and 1990. However, Wardair's aircraft added greatly to domestic PWA Corp. scheduled capacity in those years. purchased Wardair in early 1989 and began amalgamating Wardair's operations with those of Canadian Airlines International Ltd. (CAIL), resulting in capacity decreases. Intair also operated substantial capacity in the domestic scheduled market in 1990. before leaving it in 1991.

The April-June 1993 issue of Canadian Carrier Operations in Canada (51-002, $25/$99) will be released shortly.

For more information on this release, contact Robert Lund (819-997-6188), Aviation Statistics Centre, Transportation Division.

Canadian civil aviation statistics March 1994

March 1994 represented the first time in the last 19 months that Air Canada and Canadian Airlines International Ltd. (in total) reported an increase in domestic scheduled passenger-kilometres over the same month last year. With increases in both domestic and international operations, the two air carriers improved their passenger load factor (a measure of the fullness of their aircraft) by 2.6 percentage points to 65.4%.

Available on CANSIM: Matrix 385.

Preliminary civil aviation data for March 1994 will be published in the June issue of the Aviation statistics centre service bulletin (51-004, $10/$99). See "How to order publications".
