

IMPACTS OF RISING PRICES ON CANADIANS

Nearly 3 in 4 Canadians reported that rising prices are affecting their ability to meet day-to-day expenses.

Those in the bottom three household income quintiles have been affected more by rising prices.

Percentage of those whose ability to meet day-to-day expenses is affected somewhat or a lot by rising prices, by income quintile

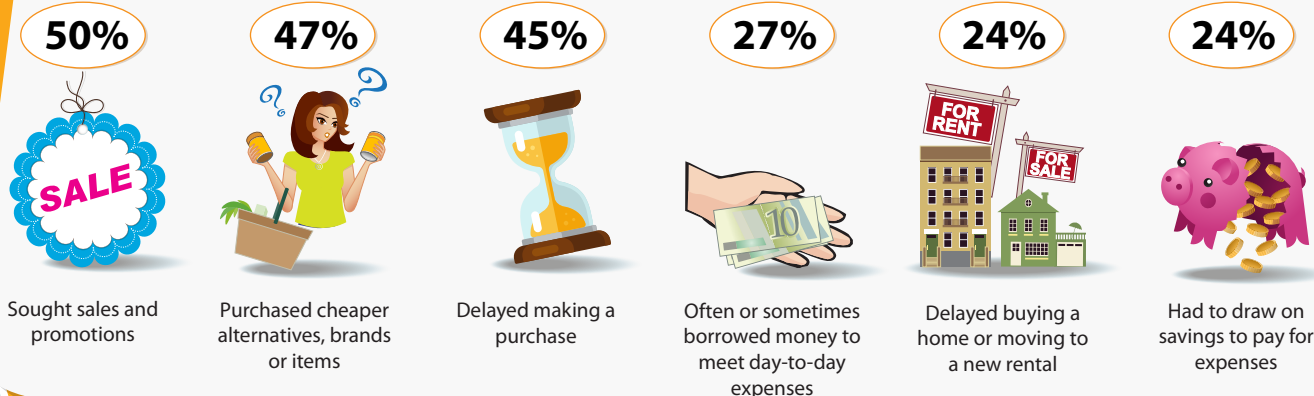

In the past six months, Canadians were affected most by rising food prices, followed by rising transportation and housing costs.

1 in 5 Canadians said it is somewhat or very likely that they will have to obtain free meals or food from community organizations if food prices continue to rise over the next six months.

To cope with rising prices, many Canadians have adjusted their spending habits and lifestyle over the past six months.

Changes in spending habits in the past six months

Source: Statistics Canada, "Rising prices are affecting the ability to meet day-to-day expenses for most Canadians." The Daily. June 2022; Portrait of Canadian Society – Impacts of Rising Prices, April 19 to May 1, 2022.

Catalogue number: 11-627-M | ISBN 978-0-660-43804-7 © Her Majesty the Queen in Right of Canada, as represented by the Minister of Industry, 2022