Finding a job

Finding a job is an important step toward starting your new life in Canada. Many businesses are looking to hire Ukrainian newcomers. There are specific job sites and supports to help you find work.

What you need to work in Canada

To work in Canada under the Canada-Ukraine authorization for emergency travel (CUAET), you need a

- ✓ Social insurance number (SIN)
 - You should apply for a SIN in the first 2 weeks after you arrive in Canada.
 - Even if you're not looking for work right away, you need a SIN to access most government services and benefits.
- ✓ Work permit
 - If you don't have one, you can always apply for a work permit after you arrive in Canada until March 31, 2023.
 - If you applied for CUAET outside Canada, you'll need to get a medical exam within 90 days of your arrival in Canada if you also applied for a work permit.
 - If you applied for CUEAT inside Canada, you need to get a medical exam.
 - We'll give you instructions, including how to book an appointment with an approved physician.
 - Learn more about removing job restrictions on your open work permit if you didn't get a medical exam.
 - With a work permit, you may qualify for public health coverage if you meet the conditions of the province or territory where you live.
