CANADA... MAJOR AUTOMOTIVE PRODUCER

Canada proudly takes its place among the world's major producers and exporters of automotive products. More than 1,000 firms now comprise the Canadian auto parts industry. Most are listed in this directory. The industry has the equipment, production facilities and technical skills to produce almost every original part for a vehicle, as well as a wide range of automotive accessories.

Canadian firms are recognized for their workmanship and quality, and have the experience and ability to meet the exacting production requirements of an expanding North American automotive industry. Because of the smaller size of the industry and shorter production runs, they have had to develop sufficient flexibility to handle constant design changes and retooling. Many Canadian plants are capable of all phases of production, from raw stock to finished component – a significant advantage for maximum quality control – and can supply orders for specialized short runs as well as medium and long runs. Close inspection – the rule in all Canadian plants – assures automotive products of the highest quality and performance. New safety features are being developed in conjunction with the current program in the United States.

Since before the turn of the century, when vehicle production began in Canada, the number of units assembled annually has risen to more than 900,000. In 1966, 253,000 vehicles were exported, 199,000 to the United States. A total of 205,000 vehicles were imported.

Value of vehicle exports from Canada in 1966 was $593,000,000 – $493,000,000 to the United States and $100,000,000 to other countries. Value of parts and accessories exported was $399,000,000 – $352,000,000 to the United States and $47,000,000 to other countries.

The Canada-United States Agreement on Automotive Products of 1965 (see inside back cover) has led to the establishment of new plants and the expansion of others involving an investment of more than $500,000,000 in Canada. Integration of production facilities on both sides of the U.S.-Canada border permits longer and more economical production runs. Mainly as a result of the Agreement, total value of automotive trade between Canada and the United States has risen from $730,000,000 in 1964 to $2,086,000,000 in 1966. Meeting delivery schedules is no problem as most Canadian plants are located within 200 miles of their United States customers.

In these pages you will find information on Canadian sources of supply for products and services which meet nearly every requirement in the automotive field.

DIE CASTINGS

With recent plant expansions, modernization of equipment, and assured sources of raw materials, the Canadian die casting industry is capable of meeting the demand for quality automotive parts in the North American market. Many of Canada's die casting companies—already well established in the U.S.—are prepared to handle the constant change in design of automotive component parts by re-tooling whenever necessary.

Canadian die casters offer a new source of quality products in a complete range of die casting alloys for functional and decorative parts for the automotive industry in the United States.

As in the United States, the automotive industry in Canada continues to be the largest single consumer of zinc die castings which have excellent physical and mechanical properties. Electroplating, paint, or other high quality decorative finishes are easily applied.

Improved design and flexibility of style, combined with superior plating systems now available for zinc alloy die castings have resulted in automotive component parts of outstanding quality and performance.

Lightweight aluminum and magnesium die castings are widely used in functional automotive parts and are produced in weights up to 20 pounds. Considerable new capacity for casting these alloys has been added to Canadian plants to meet the anticipated increase in domestic and export markets.

Canada's basic metal producers supply the die casting industry with metals of certified purity as well as technical services to help solve production problems. In turn, the ingot producers provide the die casting industry with alloys of certified composition and also check analyses of casting lots.

In addition to die casters, the industry consists of basic metals producers, die cast alloy producers and suppliers of alloy tool steels. It also maintains a die casting display used for educational purposes for technical students and industry personnel.

Highly versatile, the Canadian die casting industry is capable of producing long runs of components of consistent quality. It has much to offer the prospective buyer of die castings. The major portion of the industry is strategically located adjacent to the automotive industry in the United States allowing prompt delivery of goods.

FORGINGS

Canada's forgings industry has grown tremendously in the last 20 years under the impetus of Canada's general manufacturing expansion and increasing sophistication as an industrialized nation.

Highly diversified, the Canadian forgings industry is serving more and more firms in the automotive industry both in the United States and in Canada with an increasingly wide variety of forgings.

Modernization of methods and equipment, combined with the high quality of Canadian metals and meticulous attention to quality control, has placed Canadian forgings producers in an excellent position to serve a large cross-section of the U.S. automotive industry wherever their need and wherever they may be located.

The Canadian forgings industry has the capability for high volume production as well as a special ability for economical, specialized short-run orders. Traditional Canadian craftsmanship and firm delivery dates will commend consideration of Canadian forgings by value-conscious U.S. automotive parts buyers.

FERROUS PARTS

Canada's rapidly expanding iron and steel industry is based on a virtually unlimited supply of raw material. Although less than one-third of the land in Canada has undergone geological survey, known iron reserves are so vast that they cannot be measured. The 1966 production of iron ore was more than 36,000,000 tons and production is expected to reach about 75,000,000 tons by 1980. Much of the ore is exported in raw form, but Canada's iron and steel producers turn millions of tons into pig iron, steel and steel products each year.

Canada's automotive parts industry benefits from this source of supply. Canadian steel companies now produce more than 6,500,000 tons of pig iron and more than 10,000,000 tons of steel each year. Prospects for steel production by 1970 are estimated at 17,000,000 tons annually.

The tremendous growth rate of Canada's iron and steel industry reflects the enterprising management and advanced technology that have given many Canadian firms a world-wide reputation for excellence and diversity in their steel products.

Anticipating the demand from established markets and new customers—especially the automotive industry—Canada's iron and steel producers have spent more than a billion dollars in modernizing, expanding and setting up new plant facilities.

NON-FERROUS PARTS

Canada, long a major source of non-ferrous ores and metals, is becoming increasingly important as a producer and supplier of raw materials for the automotive industry.

Canadian producers are able to provide custom services in addition to making competitively priced parts of the highest quality for a very broad range of U.S. users in the automotive field.

Each year the many progressive Canadian companies engaged in the automotive industry are winning increasing numbers of customers in the United States because of the excellent quality of their materials and skill of their craftsmen.

Many of the companies which are listed in this booklet are already well established in export markets and are producing for the automotive program in the United States. Others with equally high quality products and services to offer are now in an excellent position to serve customers outside Canada and are seeking orders.

STAMPINGS

Decorative trim stampings and roll-formed moldings of steel, stainless steel and aluminum have been standard automotive production items in Canada for many years.

Numerous Canadian companies—ideally situated in Southwestern Ontario to facilitate shipment of goods to the United States market—have become specialists in the auto trim field and are well equipped with modern machines and up-to-date finishing facilities that meet the exacting auto specifications for both materials and finish. Plating and anodizing facilities are integral or located nearby for convenience.

Approximately six Canadian companies specialize in making roll-formed shapes and moldings for the automotive industry. These include windshield garnish moldings, wheel openings, vent window channels, body trim and grille bars—all in high volume production for most car models.

There are more than 100 experienced companies in Canada which constantly meet the ever-increasing demand for automotive stampings. These companies have ample capacity to supply orders for highly specialized short run items as well as high volume parts.

The Canadian stamping industry has a wide range of press sizes available to produce such trim products as scuff plates, escutcheons, hub caps, wheel covers, interior windshield corner posts, body stampings and chassis which are regular automotive production parts in Canada and the United States.

NON-METALLICS

Canada's widespread automotive non-metallics industry is a vibrant and booming one.

The growth of the industry over the past five years has been phenomenal. The rubber industry, for example, has quadrupled in the past four years and sales this year are expected to rise sharply. In keeping with this growth pattern, Canada's rapidly expanding plastics industry has increased sales by 25 per cent since 1959, while production of adhesives, sealants, molded carpets, glass, batteries, brake linings and clutch facings has risen substantially.

The following is a comprehensive summary of the various segments of the Canadian non-metallics industry.

Rubber Parts and Tires

Primarily located in the Province of Ontario and within 200 miles of the principal United States automobile manufacturing centers, Canada's rubber industry is in an excellent position to supply goods to the U.S. automotive market.

Factory shipments of rubber products—excluding tires—rose from $115 million in 1960 to a reported $172 million in 1963 and should reach approximately $300 million in 1967. The yearly output of the Canadian rubber industry was in excess of $700 million during 1966 and at present is showing a rapid growth of approximately 20 per cent over the previous year.

Its principal components include pneumatic tires, tubes, molded and extruded rubber products, brake pads, oil seals, spark plug covers and engine mounts. The industry has the equipment, production facilities and technical skills to produce all types of molded and extruded rubber products. The working force of the industry is currently estimated at 30,000 employees.

Plastics

The group of injection molders participating in the development and molding of plastic parts for Canada's automotive industry has the experience and ability to meet the exacting production requirements of this thriving industry.

The design and development of new plastic materials have enabled the Canadian plastics industry to mold intricate and serviceable parts at low costs that satisfy customers in this demanding market. This special skill has accounted for the enormous growth from $60 million in 1957 to $90 million in 1961. With a projected growth of 10 to 12 per cent per year, estimated sales for 1967 should reach $160.6 million.

Molded Carpets

Before 1966, the production of molded carpets in Canada was directly proportional to the increase of domestic passenger car registration and manufacturing facilities were only adequate for domestic requirements. Recently, however, modern equipment has been added to Canadian plants enabling manufacturers to export $1,250,000 worth of molded carpets in 1966. Sales in 1967 are expected to reach $2,500,000, but existing open production capacity could double this volume on short notice. Factories producing molded carpets are located in Quebec and Ontario. Both geographically and economically they are in an excellent position to serve the expanding needs of the North American automotive industry.

Adhesives and Sealants

Since 1960, the Canadian adhesives industry has embarked on a steady program of expansion which has resulted in factories increasing their shipments by 60 per cent—from $24,000,000 in 1960 to $40,000,000 in 1966.

A wide range of general and special purpose adhesives is available for bonding metal to metal; metal to rubber, plastics and insulation; and for bonding an almost endless variety of dissimilar metals one to the other, with formulations designed for high to low ambient temperatures. With the recent addition of several new manufacturers in the adhesive and sealant field, the industry's production capacity is expected to increase significantly.

Operating and Maintenance Chemicals

In 1966, Canadian production of operating and maintenance chemicals for automobiles amounted to about $7,500,000. Of this total the largest share—45 per cent—was in anti-freeze preparations including cooling system antifreeze, windshield and lock de-icers and gas-line antifreeze. Other major items were brake fluid—10 per cent; cooling system compounds such as cleaners and lubricants—5 per cent; waxes and polishes including glass cleaner and chrome cleaner—10 per cent; and miscellaneous items—30 per cent—encompassing a variety of products such as engine conditioners, starting fluid and greaseless lubricants.

Brake Lining and Clutch Facing

In Canada there are five factories located in Ontario and Quebec which serve the $20 million annual market for these two major friction material products. Producing for both the original equipment and the replacement requirements of Canada's six million motor vehicles, companies manufacturing brake linings and clutch facings are well equipped to supply parts for all models of automobiles made in the United States and Canada. This industry has the experience, the ability and the open production capacity to provide prompt delivery on friction materials that meet the rigid specifications and requirements of the U.S. and Canadian automotive market.

Batteries

Canada's battery industry is composed of two sections—the replacement market and the original equipment market. In the last five years the replacement market has increased approximately 33 per cent, while the original equipment market has increased 123 per cent.

Improvements in the design and quality of Canadian batteries—resulting in longer life and better performance—account for the much slower growth of the replacement market. The combined production of both these markets today represents a total of 3,350,000 units yearly.

The Canadian battery industry is not restricted to any one area in Canada. A total of 13 major manufacturing plants is established between Vancouver, British Columbia and Springhill, Nova Scotia. In addition, there are approximately 15 regional battery manufacturers. It is estimated that the Canadian production capacity for original equipment and replacement batteries today has a market value of $40 million annually.

Summary of Canada-United States agreement on automotive products

Under this Agreement, the United States agreed, and subsequently provided for in the Act of October 21, 1965, to accord duty-free treatment to imports of Products of Canada* described as follows:

(1) Motor vehicles for the transport of persons or articles as provided for in items 692.05 and 692.10 of the Tariff Schedules of the United States and chassis therefor, but not including electric trolley buses, three-wheeled vehicles, or trailers accompanying truck tractors, or chassis therefor.

(2) Fabricated components, not including trailers, tires, or tubes for tires, *for use as original equipment in the manufacture of motor vehicles of the kinds described in paragraph (1) above.

(3) Articles of the kinds described in paragraphs (1) and (2) above include such articles whether finished or unfinished.

*These two qualifications are important. They are carefully defined and are covered by the phrase "if Canadian article and original motor-vehicle equipment" in all U.S. Tariff items which provide for duty-free entry of the parts described in sub-paragraph (2) above.

Definition of

"Original Motor-Vehicle Equipment"

The Act of October 21, 1965, provides the following definition:

"The term 'original motor-vehicle equipment', as used in the schedules with reference to a Canadian article, means such a Canadian article which has been obtained from a supplier in Canada under or pursuant to a written order, contract, or letter of intent of a bona fide motor-vehicle manufacturer in the United States, and which is a fabricated component intended for use as original equipment in the manufacture in the United States of a motor vehicle, but the term does not include trailers or articles to be used in their manufacture.

"The term 'motor vehicle', means a motor vehicle of a kind described in tariff items 692.05 and 692.10 (excluding an electric trolley bus and a three-wheeled vehicle) or an automobile truck tractor.

"The term 'bona fide motor-vehicle manufacturer', as used in this head-note, means a person who, upon application to the Secretary of Commerce, is determined by the Secretary to have produced no fewer than 15 complete motor vehicles in the United States during the previous 12 months, and to have installed capacity in the United States to produce 10 or more complete motor vehicles per 40-hour week. The Secretary of Commerce shall maintain, and publish from time to time in the Federal Register, a list of the names and addresses of bona fide motor-vehicle manufacturers."
