INTRODUCTION

This document is intended to offer a record of the Canadian based companies currently supplying original equipment (OE) parts to the vehicle builders in North America. It is based on information provided by those vehicle builders, supplemented by personal experience of the writer. In the interest of preserving confidentiality, the customers are not identified here. Second tier suppliers, material sources, etc. have not been included at this point in time but they might well be added to a subsequent issue if the relevant information can be collected. Anyone reading the booklet who feels quite strongly that a particular company ought to be included should feel free to be in touch with the writer on the matter.

The main purpose of the document is to provide a single source reference for the procurement staffs of the vehicle companies and to help this Department's Trade Commissioners, in their various posts, to identify potential Canadian suppliers of automotive components. The information has been kept to a minimum in order to provide ready reference, but if any difficulty is experienced in following up on the various entries, then the writer would be pleased to offer the necessary assistance or guidance.

There will be the inevitable omissions and errors in gathering together the material for this booklet and for those, apologies are offered. The information is stored on word-processing equipment and so additions and corrections can be readily handled if they are brought to attention. The errors are those of the writer, not of the word processors, who are to be commended for their excellent cooperation and the high quality of their work.

Since this is Part Two, it might be appropriate to explain Part One. It is a narrative style record, briefly documenting the capabilities and capacities of the automotive parts segment in Canada. Intended as a planning document, it identifies the components not presently produced in Canada and tries to indicate the anticipated growth potential of each type. Part One would be of interest to companies wishing to diversify; to those in planning functions and to those looking at joint ventures, licensing agreements, etc. The distribution of Part One is on a much more limited scale than this Part Two.

In due course, a third part will be produced, listing the major parts producers in size order, showing product detail and ownership. Such a listing is currently in existence but is somewhat outdated.
