CANDIDE MODEL 1.0 SERIES OF PROJECT PAPERS

The CANDIDE (CANadian Disaggregated Inter-Departmental Econometric) model is a large-scale, medium-term econometric model of the Canadian economy. This series of project papers describes CANDIDE Model 1.0 which was the initial focal point of the CANDIDE Project. In addition to serving as a description of some salient aspects of the Canadian economy, the model is intended to be useful for policy simulations and for conditional forecasts or projections. It is intended that information about the basic model be readily available to the government, business and academic communities, with the expectation that constructive criticism will be forthcoming to aid the Project staff in their developmental work.

CANDIDE PAPER NUMBER 17

EC22-19-17 Paperback $1.75
 The tracking properties of CANDIDE Model 1.0 over the sample period 1955-68. References, tables, graphs.

THE MISSING HALF: WOMAN 1975

21-01578-3 Paperback $1.50

"I shall ride the storm, tame the waves, slay the sharks. I shall drive away the enemy to save our people. I shan't be content with the customary fate of women: to bow their heads as concubines". This declaration, made 1,675 years ago by an Asian peasant woman, shows that the struggle for women's equality has indeed been a long one. This publication points out that the women of today, especially those in the developing countries of the world, still have many obstacles to overcome before their goal is reached. Numerous illustrations.

The Fit-Kit

A complete programme for physical fitness which is both easy and enjoyable. Here's what it contains:

The Canadian Home Fitness Test (Record): A 7-minute self-administered test of heart and lung fitness, with a musical background, intended for all Canadians aged 15 to 69 years. A special exercise-selector will assist you to choose your own particular test.

Rx for Physical Activity: A weekly guide to physical activity describing the basic requirements in terms of weight control, flexibility, muscular endurance, etc. Allows you to choose activities you find personally satisfying.

Fit-Tips: A colour illustrated chart, 36" high, showing a series of rhythmic exercises intended to improve muscular strength, endurance and flexibility.

Fit-Kit Progress Chart: Enables 3 people to record their participation and progress in the various activity programmes for a six month period.

Walk-Run Distance Calculator: A special slide rule which helps you calculate how far you should walk or run in 15 minutes to maintain or improve your fitness level. It uses your results from the Canadian Home Fitness Test, your height, weight, age and sex to determine your personal prescription.

Advanced Version – Canadian Home Fitness Test: An advanced test for those who attain the Recommended Personal Fitness Level.

Crests: 4 crests, symbolizing the active Canadian, to be worn on jackets, sweaters, etc. by family and friends who try the Canadian Home Fitness Test.

Bonus: The Health and Fitness booklet. This popular manual, written by Dr. Per-Olof Astrand of Sweden, deals with many issues related to physical activity and nutrition.
