CANADA'S FOOD GUIDE...POSTER!

CANADA'S
Food Guide
TO HEALTHY EATING

Enjoy a variety of foods from each group every day.
Choose lower-fat foods more often.

Grain Products
Choose whole grain and enriched products more often.

Vegetables & Fruit
Choose dark green and orange vegetables and orange and red fruits.

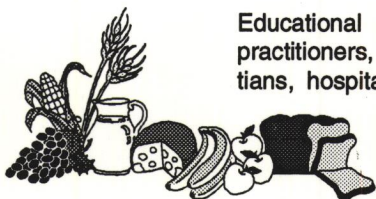

Milk Products
Choose lower-fat milk products more often.

Meat & Alternatives
Choose lower-fat meats, poultry and fish, as well as eggs, tofu, beans and lentils more often.

Other Foods
Taste and enjoy! Remember not to eat more than other foods and sweeteners that are part of the 4 food groups. Some of these foods are higher in fat or calories so use these foods in moderation.

Different People Need Different Amounts of Food
The amount of food you need every day from the 4 food groups and other foods depends on your age, body size, activity level, whether you are male or female and if you are pregnant or breast-feeding. That's why the Food Guide gives a lower and higher number of servings for each food group. For example, young children can choose the lower number of servings, while adult teenagers can go for the higher number. Most other people can choose average servings (shown in between).

Canada

Educational institutions, medical practitioners, nutritionists, dietitians, hospitals and other health institutions will find this poster to be a useful educational tool. It outlines in a simplified way the nutritional recommendations of the Canada Food Guide.

THE CANADIAN PANEL ON VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN—Report

Co-chairpersons: Pat Freeman Marshall and Marthe Asselin Vaillancourt. Established by the Federal Government in August 1991, the Panel's mandate has been to examine violence against women in all its forms, describe the links that exist between these forms, and develop a national action plan to be implemented by the Federal Government, other levels of government, non-government agencies and other Canadian institutions working to end violence against women in Canada. The Panel issued its Final Report on August 2, 1993 and has produced a National Action Plan and a Community Kit.

CHANGING THE LANDSCAPE: Ending the Violence, Achieving Equality —Final Report

SW45-1-1993E Paperbound C$32.00
ISBN 0-660-15144-8 Other countries US$41.60

The Final Report of the Canadian Panel on Violence Against Women presents personal accounts that demonstrate the extent of violence against women in Canada. Inequalities faced by women in Canada and their vulnerability to violence—in the family, within institutions, in the workplace, and through popular culture and the mass media are examined in detail. The violence experienced by specific population groups such as Aboriginal women, immigrant women, women of colour, women with disabilities, young women and lesbians is also an integral part of the Panel's findings, as is the incidence of tolerance of violence in institutional policy and practice, particularly within the legal system. The report includes a National Action Plan—the Panel's blueprint for a changed society that includes details on how to end violence and achieve equality for women. References. Tables.

THE COMMUNITY KIT

SW45-4-1993E Spiralbound C$19.95
ISBN 0-660-15158-8 Other countries US$25.95

The Community Kit represents a practical application of the National Action Plan—a guide for initiating an end to violence against women at the community level. Organized in two parts. Part one will help community leaders and others organize a community action group; disseminate information on violence against women locally; develop a profile of the services available to women who are victims and survivors of violence; and critically evaluate whether a particular community is a safe place for women. Part Two focuses on what a community needs to do to end violence against women. It includes a workbook which systematically identifies seven key areas of concern. References.

EARNINGS OF IMMIGRANTS
—A Comparative Analysis

EC22-179-1992E Papercover C$8.25
ISBN 0-660-14279-1 Other countries US$10.70

(ECC) By Arnold Desilva. This study analyzes the economic performance of immigrants and looks at how new immigrants adjust to the labour market. Using regression analysis, it attempts to isolate the main factors that are likely to explain the wages received by first-generation immigrants and Canadian-born persons. Data are examined in terms of the wage disparity that appears after fully accounting for differences in immigrant characteristics and within the context of the ongoing debate over the impact of immigration on the welfare of the host country. This study will be of interest to researchers and to those who develop policies related to immigration and social-welfare issues, including issues of discrimination. Bibliography. Tables.

EDUCATION AND TRAINING IN CANADA

EC22-188-1992E Paperbound C$15.95
ISBN 0-660-14681-9 Other countries US$20.75
(ECC) Prepared by Keith Newton, P. de Broucker, G. McDougall, K. McMullen, T.T. Schweitzer, and T. Siedule. (This report is the companion piece to A Lot to Learn, published in April 1992.) If present trends continue, Canada will put an additional one million more illiterate young people into the workforce by the year 2000. This report, released by the Economic Council of Canada, shows that despite a $40 billion learning system Canada has a 30 per cent drop-out rate; students are mediocre in maths and science, (the essential subjects of the 1990s), relative to their counterparts internationally; and, serious inequalities exist in learning opportunities among the provinces. The report examines the reasons for these trends and a number of possible solutions. Graphs. References. Tables.

EMPLOYMENT IN THE SERVICE ECONOMY

EC22-172-1991E Paperbound C$21.95
ISBN 0-660-13825-5 Other countries US$28.55

Prepared by the Economic Council of Canada (ECC). Provides in-depth analysis of the Council's research on employment and the service economy which originally appeared in the 1990 publication Good Jobs, Bad Jobs. In addition to greater detail, this report provides an additional year of analysis. Part one looks at the nature of service industries, changes in structure, and increasing linkages to the goods sector. Part two examines trends that are re-defining the labour market as a larger portion of the population are employed in service industries. Problems encountered by certain groups, the proliferation of non-standard jobs, the growth of work with high skill content, the increasing importance of training and education, and the polarization of earnings are all examined. Recommendations first published in the Council's Good Jobs, Bad Jobs are highlighted in the final section of the report.

ISBN 0-660-14814-5

Loose-leaf C$89.99
Other countries US$116.95

Developed by Employment and Immigration Canada in cooperation with Statistics Canada, the National Occupation Classification (NOC) replaces the Canadian Classification and Dictionary of Occupations (CCDO). NOC classifies and describes occupations in the Canadian labour market according to skill level (amount and type of education and training) as well as type of work performed, and includes an index of over 25,000 occupational titles. In addition, a poster-size NOC graph matrix illustrates the entire classification. NOC is a valuable resource for those who use labour market information, plan human resources, perform labour market research and analysis, assist with career planning and vocational rehabilitation, and provide career information. Currently published in loose-leaf format to make updating easy, it will also be available in electronic format at a later date. A NOC career handbook for counsellors will also be released this year.

NOBODY'S PERFECT

BODY

BEHAVIOUR

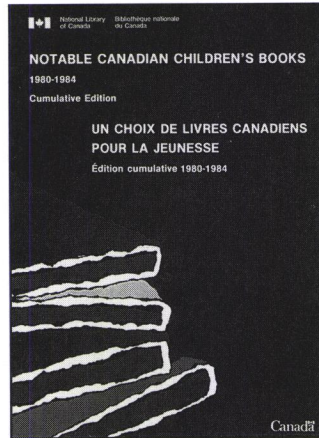

(HWC) Developed by Health and Welfare Canada and Atlantic Canada's four provincial health departments, this educational program has been designed to help professionals, organizations and target-parent groups provide parents with current information on their children's health, safety, development and behaviour. Parents of children from birth to five will learn about creative options for parenting with emphasis on self-development, personal strengths and coping skills, and the importance of mutual support from other parents. NOBODY'S PERFECT has been extensively researched, tested and evaluated, and is found to be most effective in meeting the needs of young; single; culturally, socially, geographically isolated; or low-income parents. It is also most effective if delivered by a trained facilitator in a group or one-on-one setting. Easy-to-read materials, information on group support, adult education techniques, and promotional and comprehensive resource materials provide facilitators with excellent background materials to implement this program. A Parent Resource Kit and resource materials for all parents who participate are included in the program package. For more information please call 1-800-561-4334.

Shipping and Handling Charges / Goods and Services Tax

Please note that, with the exception of subscriptions, shipping and handling charges apply on all mail orders including amendments issued as part of Standing Order Service. Please see the Order Form enclosed with your catalogue for the current rates. The GST is applicable on all items, including shipping and handling fees, unless otherwise indicated. The GST does not apply to goods for export.

Method of payment

Purchase orders are accepted from government and registered companies and organizations. Pre-payment is required in all other cases. Cheques and money orders should be payable to the Receiver General for Canada. Visa and MasterCard are accepted. Please note that prices are subject to change without notice.

Returns / Claims

All sales are final. In the case of damaged, defective publications, or incorrect shipment, publications will be replaced if the claim is made within 7 days of receipt of publication. For subscriptions and standing orders, claims for missing issues must be made within 3 months of the release date for Canada and 6 months for subscribers outside Canada.

Standing Order service

The standing order service applies to publications for which amendments are foreseen. When published, these amendments are automatically shipped to the customer and the cost (including shipping and handling fees), which can vary from one amendment to another, will be charged, no matter the number of copies purchased as long as they are shipped to the same address. The shipping and handling fees do not apply to the $3.00 registration fee.

Co-published Publications

Booksellers must order co-published titles directly from the co-publisher concerned, and not from the Canada Communication Group-Publishing, if they expect to receive a trade discount.

To consult publications

A large number of public libraries across Canada are depositories for government publications and receive federal publications free of charge. If your local library does not have the publications you want, they should be obtainable through interlibrary loans. A list of depository libraries is available on request.
