CONSERVATION IN CANADA - A CONSPECTUS

This book is not a statement of government policy, but a document representing viewpoints of individual contributors. It is aimed at people with a serious interest in and concern for conservation of resources. The papers, prepared in connection with the Stockholm Conference on the Human Environment in 1972, describe a particular resource and its value, consider the effects of man, outline present conservation measures and their adequacy, and list future needs. Author, subject, provincial and territorial indexes. Photographs, maps, tables. 441 pp. Separate French edition. (See enclosed brochure).

NON-OFFICIAL LANGUAGES - A STUDY IN CANADIAN MULTICULTURALISM

This study which stresses the importance of language retention in the overall question of cultural retention, is based upon a large number of detailed and systematic interviews with representative samples of ten ethnic groups-the Chinese, Dutch, Germans, Greeks, Hungarians, Italians, Polish, Portuguese, Scandinavians and Ukrainians in five metropolitan areas of Canada (Montreal, Winnipeg, Toronto, Edmonton and Vancouver). It deals primarily with the extent of non-official language knowledge in the 10 groups, the use of those languages in a variety of social contexts and the degree of popular support for continued maintenance of the non-official languages in the five cities. Bibliography. Tables. 274 pp. Separate French edition.
