Visual Representation

Trademark Description
The figurative trademark is a stylized whimsical graphic image based on a combination of two letters: the capital letter "B" of the Latin alphabet and the capital letter "B" of the Cyrillic alphabet. The image of the capital letter "B" of the Latin alphabet is formed by a combination of a horizontal straight line and two curved lines extending from its opposite ends and connecting at the bottom of the image. On the right side, the curved line has a trajectory distortion in the form of a shift to the left side at an acute angle. Creative value of the image is acquired by depicting it in a form similar to that of a military shield. The image of the capital letter "B" of the Cyrillic alphabet is graphically different from the image of the capital letter "B" of the Latin alphabet: the trajectory of the right curved line shifts to the left, forming a trapezoid inverted on the left side. The image of the capital letter "B" of the Cyrillic alphabet is smaller in size than the image of the capital letter "B" of the Latin alphabet and is located as if inside it, giving the trademark the illusion of volume.
