Colour Claim

Colour is claimed as a feature of the trademark. The trademark is composed of the lowercase letters "mpn," all in a uniform deep, saturated shade of crimson, reminiscent of the color of blood. The typeface is bold and sans-serif, with a modern and clean look. To the right of the letters, there are four abstract shapes. Two of these shapes are circular and colored in a bright, sky blue, suggestive of the blue commonly seen in medical imagery. The other two shapes are droplet-like, with pointed ends and a wider base, resembling stylized blood drops, in the same crimson hue as the letters. These abstract shapes are arranged in a pattern where one blue circle is above the letters, followed by a red droplet shape, another blue circle, and finally, another red droplet shape, all in descending order. Adjacent to the letters and the abstract shapes, on the right side, is the name of the group: "Canadian MPN Group." This is displayed in two lines in a lighter, more subdued shade of blue that is harmonious with the blue circles, with "Canadian" on the top line; below it, "MPN Group" shares the line.

Colour Claim

Colour is claimed as a feature of the trademark. The trademark consists of the colours orange and blue, which are claimed as a feature. Specifically: two orange beams stand vertically and form the structure of the letter H. They are placed side by side, slightly staggered one behind the other. The beam on the left extends at its base in an orange curve that goes up to the top, then down, and ends in a stylized orange hand clutching another orange hand below the word "réseaux". To the right of these elements, which form the H, appears the word ORA in blue capital letters. The letter O is represented in the form of a blue globe with latitude and longitude lines. The letter A in HORA starts as an extension of the end of the letter R, creating an effect of continuity. Underneath the word HORA appears the mention "Réseau d'affaires" in smaller blue characters.
