How to interpret the results

NOS responses are unweighted

It is unknown if the sample (newcomer client and non-client survey respondents) are representative of the total newcomer population since IRCC does not collect this data on all newcomers.

NOS should serve as a guide, not a plan

Additional data and stakeholders should be consulted before conclusions are made, and low cell counts - particularly % changes on small raw values - should be removed from analysis.

What is a client? A newcomer who received at least one domestic service from an IRCC-funded settlement service provider.

Sharing of results

The contents of the 2022+2023 Newcomers Survey Results for each province or territory may be shared with designated Survey Results recipients in other jurisdictions without first contacting IRCC.

Other designated Survey Results recipients are the other members in the FPT Settlement Working Group.

For any distribution to other external audiences, please contact IRCC at IRCC.REStatistics-StatistiquesDGRE.IRCC@cic.gc.ca first.

Variations in NOS Question Sets

Information from the GCMS and iCARE databases is used to ensure that respondents are asked relevant questions

Respondent Type	Resettled Refugees	Other Immigration Categories
Clients of domestic settlement services	✓ Experiences resettling in Canada* ✓ Comparison of abilities at time of landing and when surveyed ✓ Whether IRCC-funded services helped improve these abilities ✓ Challenges in accessing IRCC-funded services	✓ Comparison of abilities at time of landing and when surveyed ✓ Whether IRCC-funded services helped improve these abilities ✓ Challenges in accessing IRCC-funded services
Non-clients of domestic settlement services	✓ Experiences resettling in Canada* ✓ Awareness of IRCC-funded services ✓ Comparison of abilities at time of landing and when surveyed	✓ Awareness of IRCC-funded services ✓ Comparison of abilities at time of landing and when surveyed

* Asked of those who became permanent residents in the most recent landing year in each survey wave.

Note that some non-clients of domestic services may have received pre-arrival services, and both clients and non-clients may have received non-IRCC-funded services.

Accessing services: experiences of discrimination

Note: Asked to clients only

Have you ever experienced discrimination while receiving settlement or resettlement services from an IRCC-funded service provider?

Discrimination is the unfair treatment of a person or group of people based on the groups, classes, or other categories to which they belong. Reasons for discrimination include, but are not limited to: a person's race, gender, religion, nationality, ethnicity (culture), or other personal traits.
