Advance Statement, Summary Statistics of Manufacturing Industries, by County or Census Division, 1962

The statistics in the accompanying table represent a selection of those which will be published later in the 1962 issue of DBS report "The Manufacturing Industries of Canada, Section G, Geographical Distribution" (Catalogue No. 31-209). The format in this table is the same as that in the "Advance Statement, Summary Statistics of Manufacturing Industries, 1962" (Daily Bulletin Supplement - 4, May 14, 1965) and represents a change from the 1961 issue of DBS report 31-209.

This change in format and content reflects the full implementation of the new definition of the establishment (reporting unit) which has resulted in an extension of the data to non-manufacturing activities of manufacturing establishments for both 1961 and 1962. Statistics on manufacturing activity will continue to be shown separately as in the past but, beginning with 1961, data on all operations (total activity) of manufacturing establishments will also be given. By definition "total activity" excludes such non-operational items as rent, interest and dividends. In addition, statistics on man-hours paid will be included as part of the regular series of industry statistics.

For many industries, adjustments and revisions were made to the originally-published 1961 data on manufacturing activities to bring them in line with reporting and compilation procedures followed in the 1962 Census of Manufactures and to reflect the final application of the new concept. The 1961 statistics on manufacturing activity contained in the table are thus not entirely comparable with those published in Table 6 of the 1961 issue of DBS report 31-209.

As far as "manufacturing activity" is concerned, most items included in the table are conceptually identical to the principal statistics published in 1961 reports. The major exception is the re-classification of driver-salesmen in bakeries and pasteurizing plants as sales and distribution workers rather than as production workers as in the original compilations for 1961 and previous years. This change, together with other adjustments, resulted in a net reduction in production workers of 13,103 in bakeries and 10,580 in pasteurizing plants at the Canada level. A reduction in coverage from originally-published 1961 data results from the transfer of railroad repair shops from manufacturing to the transportation industry. At the Canada level, this involved 13 establishments, 11,477 production workers, and $117,208,000 of shipments (largely repair work).

Under "total activity" it should be noted that working owners and partners, formerly included with administrative and office workers, are now shown separately and are not included in the figures for total employees. The latter include production and related workers in both manufacturing and non-manufacturing activities, administrative and office employees, sales, distribution and other employees. Total value added represents the value of total shipments and other operational revenue less total cost of materials, supplies, fuel and electricity used, and purchases of products for re-sale in the same condition, all adjusted for inventory change where required.

One further difference from previous years' statistics should be noted, i.e., the inclusion at the provincial level of complete data for head offices, sales offices and auxiliary units. These generally consist of separately-located administrative offices, sales offices, warehouses, laboratories, etc. of companies classified to the manufacturing industries but which are not considered establishments as they do not normally generate operational revenues. In the case of single-establishment firms whose executive personnel, salesmen, etc., are located at the site of the manufacturing plant, statistics on head-office operations are normally included with those of the establishment. On the other hand, head offices of single-establishment firms that are located outside the plant area and all head offices of multi-establishment firms are asked to submit separate reports, the data from which are shown in the item "Head offices, sales offices and auxiliary units". The separate recording of such units helps prevent distortion of inter-area comparisons as head offices of large multi-unit firms tend to be located in large metropolitan areas where their inclusion would overload expenses relative to operational revenue. In the past, there was incomplete coverage of separately-located head offices, and those that were surveyed were included in county and municipal totals.

A more complete account of recent changes and descriptions of principal industry statistics are given in the "Explanatory Notes" in each of the 1962 reports on individual manufacturing industries published by the Industry Division.
